

Bill Chandler
Missoula
531-6780

EXHIBIT ~~#~~ 9
DATE 3/14/2013
SB 147

There is no difference between rape and subdivision laws.

Vote "Yes" on SB 147.

Milton Friedman once said "Underlying most arguments against the free market is a lack of belief in freedom itself". And I further submit that: If you don't understand the concept of property you won't understand free markets, freedom or bondage.

Your body is your property and only yours. There is nothing more personal or more private than your body.

Most agree rape is a gross violation of private property. However, in the recent case involving a UM Football player a second gross violation of private property occurred. He became the "acquitted" victim who was ignored and condemned by his society and it's Law. Politically correct condemnation of victims is common in our society today and this crime must be addressed.

I'm not politically correct. I view political correctness as an intentional subversive effort to deny knowledge by controlling thought for an ideological purpose. Knowledge is not right or wrong (it's just knowledge) - it's the ideology that makes knowledge right or wrong - i.e. politically correct.

Problems arise when an ideology seeks to write their political correctness into law and subsequently enforce it with police power. This is where the collective takes priority over individual self-ownership. Choice is no longer free. This is Socialism.

The concept of property originates from the philosophy that each of us naturally and instinctively owns our body. There is nothing more personal or more private than our body. Your body belongs to you and only you - it does not belong to the collective. Any attack on your body (rape) is a violation of your private property.

Property is more than the rape of your physical body. Property also includes your mind (choice), work and the rewards (product) of your work.

- Your body is your life - to deny life is murder.
- Your mind (choice) and work exist in the present state and are your liberty - denial of liberty is imprisonment/servitude/bondage/rape.
- And your rewards are the product of your past choice, work, liberty and life - to deny this is theft.

These are inseparable.

The concept of property exists in this permanent natural state. It does not change. It is written in stone. It is not progressive; it cannot be improved upon nor manipulated by democracy. Rape always remains a violation of private property. Rape is not negotiable.

There is more to property assaults than physical rape. A case in point is the Football player acquitted yet condemned to bear the false Albatross of an ideological attack on his liberty (incarceration), life (future reputation and earnings), work (suspended from team and education) and the rewards of his work (pursuit of happiness, cost of lawyer, personal integrity).

Karl Marx succinctly summarizes this anti-property ideology: Abolish all private property. This ideological denial of property bleeds over into other areas of our society.

You don't own your house – the State does. Don't believe me? Don't pay your property tax for a year and see who owns it. You merely rent it from the State and only through their benevolence are you allowed to use their property. Your ownership is singularly dependent upon your ability to pay your annual tithe to the State.

Income tax is property theft. You voluntarily seek to improve yourself through your work with the expectation of being rewarded for your work. Work and its rewards are your property. Yet the State believes your work, and the rewards of your work, is their property. This is absolute. It is law. You have no choice. It is State money and they want it and you will be imprisoned if you don't give it to them.

Other current State assaults on private property include:

- The Flathead Water Compact (theft of the irrigators water)
- Social Security (a "legal" Ponzi Scheme)
- ObamaCare (The State now owns your body)
- Missoula's membership in ICLEI and the United Nations Agenda for the Twenty First Century (where self-ownership is denied. Humans are just another biological resource to be managed like any other resource. Keep it Wild! Concentrate humans into habitat zones [affordable housing/ADUs/building codes/Subdivision Laws].

Subdivision laws and building codes are the State wielding their authority over their property.

There is no difference between subdivision laws and rape – both violate property rights. History shows subdivision laws (violent nonconsensual force) are a preferred "Green" vehicle for property rape.

In Missoula, self-ownership is regularly gang raped by Socialism. We can't see the rape because the victims themselves, like the Football player, are held responsible for the ideological thought crime of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Stop the property rape. Vote "Yes" on SB 147.